

December 20, 2009:

Shaun Majumder of “Detroit 1-8-7” Volunteers at Crossroads Soup Kitchen

Crossroads of Michigan was excited to have television celebrity Shaun Majumder of “Detroit 1-8-7” volunteering in the soup kitchen on Sunday, December 19th for the annual Christmas dinner. He plays Detective Aman Mahajan in the television series that spotlights Detroit, Michigan. Mr. Majumder and his family worked with the entire team to help serve meals and give out warm socks to the needy. Over 925 Christmas dinners were served to families, elderly people, homeless people and people just down on their luck. For many of the people who enjoyed the meal, this will be the only Christmas dinner they have during the holiday season.

Crossroads’ Executive Director, Mary Honsel, said, “Shaun was incredibly gracious and was so kind and generous to the people attending our Soup Kitchen Christmas Dinner. He was a joy to have in our midst and brought a fun element to the special day.”

Crossroads is an ecumenical, non-profit service outreach agency offering counseling, advocacy, and emergency assistance. Crossroads serves its clients through two social service units, a Sunday Soup Kitchen, and an Employment Office.

For more information regarding Crossroads of Michigan and to learn about volunteer opportunities, call (313) 831-2787.

Contact Andrea Paul (313) 831-2787

#####

Shaun Majumder of Detroit 1-8-7, pictured with a family attending the Crossroads Christmas Dinner, volunteered at the Crossroads Soup Kitchen with his family on Sunday, December 19, 2010.

